Matrox Graphics and Bell Micro Extend European Distribution Agreement to Belgium and Luxembourg

Enhanced partnership allows Bell Micro to distribute the entire Matrox multi-display product line to key European markets

Middlesex, United Kingdom, June 17, 2010 —Matrox Graphics, the leading manufacturer of specialized graphics solutions, today announced an extended European distribution agreement with Bell Micro, a global, specialist distributor of high-tech products, solutions and services. With distribution channels established in the UK, Germany, France, Holland, Spain, and Italy, Bell Micro will now distribute all Matrox multi-display solutions to customers in Belgium and Luxembourg.

"Matrox is pleased to announce Bell Micro as a distributor in Belgium and Luxembourg," says Cecilia Wills, Country Manager, Matrox Graphics. "Bell Micro has been the ideal distributor in many of our international markets and we look forward to leveraging this relationship to meet the multi-display demands of customers in these new territories."

A pioneer in multi-monitor graphics technology, Matrox offers the most extensive line of multi-display graphics solutions on the market today—from advanced multi-monitor graphics cards, to external Graphics eXpansion Modules, Remote Graphics Units and display wall controller boards. Matrox PowerDesk desktop management software and unified display driver architecture provide the versatility required to easily customize display configurations.

"This latest alliance reinforces Bell Micro's commitment to providing the most advanced multi-display solutions to all our European territories," comments Pierre Furnal, Country Manager, Bell Micro Belgium and Luxembourg. "With the complete range of Matrox solutions at our disposal, we can now successfully engineer any type of system requirement, whether it's for an enterprise-wide rollout or a custom-built installation."
